Sunday, February 19

2—3 p.m. UNR Professor of African American History Greta de Jong presents *You Can't Eat Freedom: Struggles for Social Justice After the Civil Rights Movement

Black activism continued beyond the 1960s in efforts to secure economic reforms aimed at creating jobs, improving social services, and enabling all citizens to lead lives of dignity and autonomy. The story of these efforts, and the opposition they encountered from white supremacists, sheds light on current issues such as persistent racism and the plight of working-class communities—black and white—that were devastated by job losses and economic decline in the decades after the 1960s.

Sunday, February 26, 2017, Garrett Barmore on the W. M. Keck Museum and Its Collection

1—2:30 p.m. Located in the Mackay School of Mines Building at the University of Nevada, Reno, the W. M. Keck Earth Science & Mineral Engineering Museum houses an outstanding collection of minerals, ores, fossil specimens and photographs, in addition to mining related relics. Museum Curator Garrett Barmore will discuss the treasures housed here.

Garrett Barmore was a student worker at Getchell Library as he earned his Bachelor's degree from the University of Nevada, Reno. He received his Master's in Museum Studies from the University of Washington and currently is the administrator at the W.M. Keck Museum on the University of Nevada Reno campus.
